

BANKRUPTCY NOTICE.

In the United States Court for the Southern District of Indian Territory.

In the matter of John C. Mulkey, bankrupt, in bankruptcy.

To the Honorable Hosea Townsend, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of the Indian Territory:

John C. Mulkey of Ardmore, in the Southern District of the Indian Territory, in said district, respectfully represents that on the 2nd day of March, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from discharge.

Dated this 20th day of June, A. D. 1907.

JOHN C. MULKEY,
Bankrupt.

Southern District of the Indian Territory—ss.

On this 20th day of June, A. D. 1907, on reading the foregoing petition, it is ordered by the Court that a hearing be had upon the same on the 2nd day of July, A. D. 1907, before said Court at Ardmore, in said District, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice thereof be published in The Ardmoreite, a newspaper printed in said District, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the Court that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their place of residence as stated.

Witness, The Honorable Hosea Townsend, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof at Ardmore, in said district on the 20th day of June, 1907.

FRIEDMAN RECALLED

IDENTIFIES LETTERS AND OTHER DOCUMENTS OF THE PINKERTONS.

By Associated Press.

Boise, Idaho, July 1.—In the Haywood trial this morning, Morris Friedman was recalled. The defense expects to conclude the direct testimony this week; they promise some sensational.

Confidential reports upon the miners' strike in Colorado in 1903, which were taken from the Pinkerton Detective agency at Denver by Morris Friedman, were read this morning to the jury. Friedman was recalled and identified several more of the documents which he took.

The prosecution interposed no objection to any documents.

Friedman identified letters written by detective McParland, but the defense did not offer them in evidence and declined to even permit counsel for state to see them.

The first of the detective reports showed that an operative named W. Grattias, handled the federation relief fund at Globeville during the strike, and that Grattias cut down the relief in order to create a sentiment against Haywood. Succeeding reports dealt with the federation convention in Denver in May and June, 1904, and the actions and sentiments of miners and proceedings of the district convention of the United Mine Workers of America in Colorado in 1905.

When there is the slightest indication of indigestion, heart burn, flatulence or any form of stomach trouble take a little Kodol occasionally and you will get prompt relief. Sold by Hoffman Drug Co.

WILL ORGANIZE NEW PARTY

PREAMBLE ADOPTED BY WESTERN FEDERATION OF MINERS, CONVENTION AT CHICAGO

By Associated Press.

Denver, Col., July 1.—The Western Federation of Miners today adopted a preamble for constitution and by-laws of the federation, which in effect pledges all members of socialism. It is the announced intention of the leaders of the federation to call a convention at Chicago for the purpose of organizing an industrial and political party, that will place a ticket in nomination for the next national election.

The Western Federation and the Brewery workers it is expected will form a nucleus of the new national organization.

Not to Be Fooled.

A resident of a New England town who was noted for his great kindness to animals showed the first horse cars with dismay. "It's sheer cruelty, that's what it is," he insisted, and the plea of convenience of necessity had no influence upon him.

"I'd walk to Boston and back before I'd add a penny's weight to what those poor creatures have to drag," he declared, and no persuasion could induce him to ride in a street car dragged by overworked, tired horses. When electricity was applied and the cars went smoothly along without the horses, his son said:

"Now, father, you can ride on the street cars without worrying about horses. You can go into Boston in your ease now."

"James," said the old man, "you at ways rich at conclusions. You don't study into things as I do. Don't I read in the papers about every car having to have so much horsepower? And don't I know well enough what that means? And the old gentlemanly side of it? It simply means my son, that the poor horses are being worked just as hard and just as many hours, only we don't see 'em."

Barber's Hair Cut.

"Wished I had time to go out and get my hair cut," remarked a barber as he removed part of the latter from the customer's line with his second finger.

"Time to go out and get it cut?" repeated the man in the chair, with the emphasis on "out." "Are you like the man that won't eat in his own restaurant? Aren't you willing to trust one of your own men to cut your hair?"

"Oh, I'd trust them all right," said the barber. "It isn't that, but you hardly ever see a barber getting his hair cut in his own place. The other barbers all like to go home promptly at quitting time, and if one of us gets work done during the day there is sure to be a rush about that time, and it makes a customer 'sore' if he has to wait with two barbers right here and not waiting on him. He doesn't like to wait around while one barber cuts another barber's hair."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Impression.

Mr. Whitte-Tell me, Uncle Rufus, how did you feel when that savage catamount jumped on your back as you were coming through the woods in the dark and began to claw and rend you? Uncle Rufus flunk—Uh, well, sah, tell yo' what's a fact, thank—'I 'loved 'twuz mah wife! Yo' see, I was unthighin' 'house duss a little bit antiquated from de lodge o' de Cullud Knights and Shiveyleers, and mah natch' s'picion was dat de ludy had got tired o' waitin' and come to meet me. If I'd organized dat 'twuz a catamount dat had me by de back, I reigin I'd uh-beh' skinned plumb to death; but, thinkin' to mahself 'dat 'twuz nobely but mah wife, I dess breshed de varmint aside, accordin' to mah custom, and come uh-begun' along home, happy in mah ignorance.—Puck.

The Gloved Gambler.

An American who visited Monte Carlo was telling of an incident there. "In one of the gold rooms," he said, "a gentleman in lavender gloves was playing in wonderful luck, winning nearly every stake. As a great stack of plaques—you know those beautiful, big gold pieces called plaques—was pushed to him in the croupier I heard a young lady whisper in his ear: "It is very odd, monsieur, to wear gloves at play. What do you do to wear Luck?"

Traveling Sand Hills.

On the coast of Pomerania there are large tracts of sand heaped up by the wind, hundreds of yards in breadth and from 60 to 120 feet high, and these hills, propelled by the wind, move steadily in an easterly direction. The speed at which these great hills travel is from thirty-nine to fifty-six feet a year. Pine woods, which sometimes come in their line of march, cannot stop them and are completely destroyed. The branches are rattled off by the sand, and nothing is left of the trees but the bare stems, which after a few years wither and die.

A Crowd Is Not Company.

But little do men perceive what solitude is and how far it extendeth, for a crowd is not company, and faces are but a gallery of pictures, and talk but a tinkling cymbal where there is no love.—Bacon's Essay on "Friendship."
